A black and white photograph of a metal casting, possibly a valve or a similar mechanical part. The casting has a rough, textured surface. In the upper portion, there is a smooth, rounded, and highly reflective area, likely a polished or finished section of the part. Below this, on the main body of the casting, is a stamped marking that reads "U.S. PAT. NO." followed by the number "5495775". The stamp is slightly recessed into the metal.
